

Digital learning in the family

The aim of the project is to support women with a migration background in acquiring computer skills in order to open up career prospects for them and improve their chances of integration into a new environment.

Six European partner organizations from five different countries are involved in the implementation of the "Digital Learning in the Family" project. In addition to the learning modules for the participating women with a migration background, learning modules for their children are also being developed as part of this project. In addition, the project partners are creating a learning package for the tutors who support the families involved in acquiring computer skills.
